Hi College Bound Families!

I'm excited that in addition to my public workshops- noted below- I am partnering with a wonderful assortment of schools to share these workshops with entire schools and districts! If your school is interested in hosting a workshop, please put them in touch!

Upcoming events include the Village Christian Academy in Fayetteville this Friday, Ashe County High School in Boone March 10th, and Ben Lippen School in Columbia April 14.

LAST CALL!

RECENT FEEDBACK!

"I wanted to let you know Lawton has been accepted to just about every school he applied to and he is thrilled. SAT score 1250 and GPA of just barely above a 4.0 and he was accepted to South Carolina, Auburn, App State, and UNC Wilmington. He credits your help with his essay. He has friends with MUCH higher test scores and GPAs who were deferred from these schools.

He now thinks I am brilliant for setting him up to take the essentials class, essay class and meet with you one on one for advice. He dreaded the Saturday classes a bit when I signed him up, but he found them helpful when he did them (and he really enjoyed the 1:1 session with you because you built him up and made him feel hopeful and optimistic about his future!)

You have been such a blessing to our family and we appreciate you sharing your expertise with us."

Boot Camp- Fort Mill area of SC (just outside Charlotte, NC) Feb 24th

Mini-sessions with 4 experts from different fields

This one-day event will bring together leading experts to present mini-seminars (60-90 minutes) in college admission, financial aid, career planning, and much more to equip families with a wealth of powerful information to successfully position their children for exciting and affordable college options. Seating is limited- reserve your spot today!

Enjoy this great video HERE that will tell you all about it.

The following workshops will be offered twice that morning. Parents and students can split up and rotate through different ones so that they can take advantage of all of them.
